Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Excerpt: . . . is to procure the process of execution. 9 Tex. 499. The facts stated, to wit: her coverture and the want of her husbands consent, would under some circumstances be sufficient, under others not. Error from Lamar. Tried below before Hon. W. S. Todd, Suit by scirejircias to revive a judgment rendered upon an award by arbitrators. The plaintiff in error answered, that said judgment is rendered upon an agreement made and entered into as between the said plaintiff and this defendant, upon which said agreement 43 9 the arbitrators made their award, which award was made the judgment of the court. Defendant says and charges, that at the time of making said agreement to arbitrate, she was incapable in law of making or entering into the same, being then and at the time of the making thereof a feme covert, the wife of Joseph P. Taylor, since deceased, and who never gave his assent or sanction to the same; and that the agreement, the award and the judgment were void, etc. To this answer the defendant in error excepted, and the exception was sustained. This ruling of the court is embodied in a bill of exceptions. There was a judgment of revivor. Mills cf: Mills, for p1aintiff in error, cited Hemingway v. Matthews, 10 Tex. 207; Kavanaugh v. Brown, 1 Tex. 481. J. A. ZV. Murray, for appellee. I. The judgment on the award was final and conclusive, and as the same was not..
